STATEMENT OF TEACHING INTEREST

Teaching is my passion from early childhood. But I joined noble profession in Indian air force in early age. Therefore I was little away from this. After giving distinguished service to the nation for 20 years again I took this noble profession of teaching. Now teaching is an essential part of my scholarly aims. I consider teaching to be an extremely important component of my academic career. As in military service one may be at any hierarchical position but basically he is soldier. The same way one may gain highest position in academics but basically he is a teacher. From my own education and teaching experience, I believe that undergraduate studies lay the foundation for behavioral practices. Basic tools and methods should be taught at junior and senior most levels.

The goal at this level is not only to give students a sense of "life outside the classroom," but also to teach them how to apply their knowledge to new problems, so that they are ready to take up stiff competition at national and international level. At senior level, it is important for students to develop an intuition, a deeper theoretical understanding of the material, confidence, and resources to facilitate independent learning.. I believe that the art of motivating students plays a prime role in achieving these goals. Also, eliciting creative examples and real life applications wherever applicable is vital for making the students understand the course materials. And I strongly believe that the most important above all is "teachers should be a role model to the students."
